

Hi All, Well the new website went live last night and is now fully operational. Nik switched it over at about 23:00 and within a couple of hours had migrated around the world and was live by about 02:00 this morning. Nik has worked tirelessly to produce this fantastic update to Cloudbase's website and I hope you all agree that he has done a magnificent job. Some of the new updates include an online shop. We can now provide all you flying goodies at competitive rates. If it's not listed on our site then just ask I can almost certainly source it for you. An online booking system, students can now book their days online and have a confirmation email sent to them, it will even send a text a day before you're booked in to remind you. The site is more interactive; once you have registered you can upload your articles, pictures and videos. There is a News page that will be updated almost daily, even if it's not flying related. It's also completely modern with links to facebook, twitter and of course our forum. Well I hope you all like the new layout, but if there is anything you think we should add, remove or change then please let me know here leebligh@cloudbaseparagliding.com > Thanks again Nik for all your hard work. Lee